Mr. Woodford was mounted on one of his thoroughbreds, driving a bunch of hogs, when the animal shied, throwing him to the ground. In the fall he sustained two broken ribs, and other injuries.

DELINQUENTS, NOTICE

W. G. MCCLINTOCK, S. B. C. C.

JANUARY COURT DAY

Yesterday was the first "Court day" of the new year 1922, and a very small crowd was in the city. The possible presence of a large number of bill collectors and the little doing of the stock market had a great deal to do with the small crowd. There was little trading in live stock, only a few horses being on the market. The prospects for the tobacco crop furnished the main line of talk for the few farmers whose business had been settled and a little leisure time on hand. Merchants reported business light and collections coming in slowly.

BURGLARIOUS VISIT

Burglars visited the pool room of Harry O. James at the corner of Main and Fourth streets, gaining entrance by breaking a pane of glass out in the rear window of the Fourth street side, and removing the glass from the sash. The burglars passed through the small room in the rear of the pool room, and removed a wire setting from a screen door, which leads into the pool room. The cash drawer was relieved of its contents, a small sum of money, and a large quantity of cigars, cigarettes and tobacco was also taken. The police were notified of the occurrence.

GET YOUR LICENSES

According to a statement given THE NEWS yesterday by County Clerk Pearce Paton, only 775 automobile licenses for 1922, not quite one-half of the total, have been issued to date from his office to Bourbon county people. Bourbon county is falling behind in the matter of securing licenses, according to Clerk Paton. The tags were first placed on sale early in December, but until the past week very few automobile owners had come forward and taken out their licenses. The State statutes provide for the arrest and fining of all motorists driving machines not bearing 1922 license tags after January 1.

Get your license tag, is the advice of Clerk Paton, and thereby save yourself trouble. Procrastination will throw you in the way of trouble, so beware, and come to law.

BIG BUSINESS AT THE LOCAL POSTOFFICE

The past two weeks were unusually busy ones at the local postoffice, due to the Christmas holiday packages, and the large amount of Christmas mail, which included thousands of greeting cards. Postmaster J. Walter Payne stated that while the exact total could not be given at this time, he was confident the Paris office did a larger volume of business than for the same period during the past two years.

Long lines of waiting patrons stood patiently at the parcels post and registry windows, while the desks in the lobby were in constant use by persons addressing their packages. Every effort was made by the clerks to expedite the work of forwarding packages and other Christmas mail, and the extra clerks were kept busy into the night hours. With all the hurry and rush the business proceeded smoothly, and there was very little complaint heard.
